About WAR!

The Women's Art Register is a "museum without walls" established by artists in 1975. Located at the Richmond Library, Melbourne, it contains over 20,000 slides and 2000 information folders as well as books, videos, publications, articles and research papers recording and promoting the work of Australian-based women.

Visitors and members have access to images and documentation representing over 1800 artists. The Register facilitates contact between artists and institutions and provides a range of consultancy services. The Register provides lectures to educational and professional groups.

Richmond Library actively supports the Register by collecting and maintaining books, catalogues and videos on Australian and international women artists. The Register collection can be viewed during Library opening hours and material can be posted to interstate members.

Five slide resource kits have been produced examining contemporary and historical artists. Images and resource material provide positive role models for all female students and promote the arts as a viable career choice.

Students, artists, curators, teachers, researchers, designers and the general public use this collection of national significance. The Register is currently totally maintained by a handful of volunteer workers.

Please consider making yourself or your institution a member.

The Bulletin

The Bulletin contains articles on contemporary and historical artists, images, interviews, exhibitions and book reviews, updates on Register's activities, national art news and professional opportunities.

The Bulletin has been published regularly since 1988 and is the only specialist women's art magazine in Australia.

Artists, critics and writers regularly contribute to the Bulletin. Contributions of articles and images are eagerly sought.

$5.00 per single copy for non-members. Back issues available - regularly listed inside the back cover of each Bulletin.
